Lisan ul Quran — Lecture 40 and 41

The Huroof un Nida

1. The definition of the Huroof un Nida

Nida means to call or to summon. Every language has certain words set apart for calling someone.

Definition: The words used to call, summon or draw the attention of someone are called the Huroof un Nida.

Term	Definition
مُنَادِي	the one who calls, the one who gives the call, is the Munadi
مُنَادَى	the one who is called is the Munada

رَبَّنَا إِنَّا سَمِعْنَا مُنَادِيًا يُنَادِي لِلْإِيمَانِ أَنْ آمِنُوا بِرَبِّكُمْ فَآمَنَّا

(Surah Al 'Imran: 193)

Translation: Our Lord, we heard a caller calling to faith, saying: believe in your Lord — and so we believed.

Here مُنَادِيًا has been used in the Mansoob state.

Which are the Huroof un Nida?

Various words are used for calling in Arabic, of which the one used most abundantly is يَا, which belongs to the category of the Harf and means "O".

يَا	أَيَا	هَيَا
أَ	أَيَّ	وَ

- يَا and أَيَّ come for what is near.
- أَيَا and هَيَا for what is far.
- وَ for nudbah, the expression of grief and sorrow.
- يَا is general for all — for the near and for the far alike — and it is this that is used in the Qur'an.

Two ways of writing Ya in the Qur'an

- with a fathah and an alif: يَا نَارُ
- with a standing fathah: يَايَّهَا النَّاسُ — here يَا is the particle with a standing fathah and a small maddah, while the alif is part of أَيُّ.

In the Qur'an the second form occurs more often.

2. The four forms of the Munada

By the rules, the Munada of the Harf un Nida يَا is used in four forms.

#	Form	I'raab	Example
1	Mufrad	Mabni 'ala ar-Raf'	يَا نُوحُ
2	Mu'arraf bil Lam	أَيُّهَا or أَيَّتُهَا comes between	يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ
3	Mudaf	Mansoob	يَا أَهْلَ الْكِتَابِ
4	Shibh Mudaf	Mansoob	يَا حَسْرَةً عَلَى الْعِبَادِ

3. The first form — the Munada Mufrad

The definition of Mufrad: Any word — whether an Ism, a Fi'l or a Harf — when it stands alone, apart from a sentence, is called mufrad in the terminology of Arabic grammar. A mufrad may be singular, dual or plural; masculine or feminine; Ma'rifah or Nakirah; Munsarif or Ghayr Munsarif.

This form of the Munada is the one most used in the Qur'an.

The rule of I'raab: Whether the mufrad Munada is Nakirah or Ma'rifah, Munsarif or Ghayr Munsarif, its I'raab is always Mabni 'ala ar-Raf', whether with an apparent dammah or with a mark of raf'. And for nouns that ordinarily take Tanween, the Tanween falls away on becoming a Munada.

Examples from the Qur'an

The verse	Explanation
يَا نُوحُ	Nuh is an Ism ul 'Alam and singular Munsarif , Mabni 'ala ar-Raf' for being a Munada Mufrad — Surah ash-Shu'ara 116
يَا آدَمُ	this is a Ghayr Munsarif Ism ul 'Alam , yet it has come with a dammah for being a Munada Mufrad — Surah al-Baqarah 33
يَا مُوسَى	Musa is an Ism Maqsur , whose I'raab is estimated in all three states; this too is Mabni 'ala ar-Raf' — Surah al-Baqarah 55
يَا مَرْيَمُ	Maryam is a feminine Ism ul 'Alam , Mabni 'ala ar-Raf' for being a Munada Mufrad — Surah Al 'Imran 43
يَا نَارُ	نَارُ is feminine by usage; on becoming a Munada its Tanween fell away and it became Mabni 'ala ar-Raf' — Surah al-Anbiya 69
يَا جِبَالُ	جِبَالُ is the Jam' Mukassar of جَبَل, yet it has come with a dammah for being a Munada Mufrad — Surah Saba 10

The dual and the sound plural: If the Munada is a dual or a Jam' Salim instead, it will be Marfoo' with its own marks of raf'.

4. The second form — the Munada Mu'arraf bil Lam

Rule: If the Munada after the Harf un Nida is a noun carrying أل, then a connecting word is brought between the Harf un Nida and that noun.

Gender	Connector	Examples
masculine	أَيُّهَا	يَا أَيُّهَا الْإِنْسَانُ . يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ . يَا أَيُّهَا الرَّسُولُ . يَا أَيُّهَا الْمُرْمَلُ
feminine	أَيَّتُهَا	يَا أَيَّتُهَا النَّفْسُ الْمُطْمَئِنَّةُ

- أَيُّهَا occurs a great deal in the Qur'an, while أَيَّتُهَا occurs very seldom.
- For the masculine أَيُّهَا comes whether the noun be singular, a sound plural or a broken plural.

يَا أَيُّهَا الْإِنْسَانُ مَا غَرَّكَ بِرَبِّكَ الْكَرِيمِ

(Surah al-Infitar: 6)

Translation: O man, what has deceived you concerning your Lord, the Generous?

يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ اعْبُدُوا رَبَّكُمُ الَّذِي خَلَقَكُمْ وَالَّذِينَ مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَتَّقُونَ

(Surah al-Baqarah: 21)

Translation: O people, worship your Lord who created you and those before you, so that you may become mindful of Him.

يَا أَيَّتُهَا النَّفْسُ الْمُطْمَئِنَّةُ

(Surah al-Fajr: 27)

Translation: O reassured soul.

Since النَّفْسُ is feminine, أَيَّتُهَا was brought between.

5. The third form — the Munada Mudaf

Rule: If a Murakkab Idafi comes after يَا, the Mudaf becomes Mansoob, because in a Murakkab Idafi the essential standing belongs to the Mudaf. This form occurs very abundantly in the Qur'an.

5.1 A singular Mudaf

The verse	Explanation
يَا أَهْلَ الْكِتَابِ	أَهْلَ is the Mansoob Mudaf and الْكِتَابِ the Mudaf Ilayh — Surah Al 'Imran 64
يَا مَعْشَرَ الْجِنِّ وَالْإِنسِ	مَعْشَرَ is the Mansoob Mudaf — Surah ar-Rahman 33
يَا أُخْتُ هُرُونَنَ	أُخْتُ is the Mansoob Mudaf — Surah Maryam 28

5.2 A dual Mudaf

يَا صَاحِبَيِ السِّجْنِ أَرْبَابٌ مُتَفَرِّقُونَ خَيْرٌ أَمِ اللَّهُ الْوَاحِدُ الْقَهَّارُ

(Surah Yusuf: 39)

Translation: O my two companions of the prison, are separate lords better, or Allah, the One, the Prevailing?

The original word was صَاحِبَانِ. Being made Mansoob by the Harf un Nida it became صَاحِبَيْنِ. Then, when it was annexed to السِّجْنِ, by the rule the noon of the dual fell away and صَاحِبَيِ remained, whose yaa' was given a kasrah to join it to the next word.

5.3 A broken plural as Mudaf

يَا نِسَاءَ النَّبِيِّ لَسْتُنَّ كَأَحَدٍ مِّنَ النِّسَاءِ

(Surah al-Ahzab: 32)

Translation: O wives of the Prophet, you are not like any other women.

نِسَاءَ is a Jam' Mukassar, which stands in the state of nasb for being the Mudaf.

5.4 A sound masculine plural as Mudaf

يَا بَنِي آدَمَ قَدْ أَنْزَلْنَا عَلَيْكُمْ لِبَاسًا يُؤَارِي سَوَاتِكُمْ وَرِيثًا

(Surah al-A'raf: 26)

Translation: O children of Adam, We have sent down to you clothing to conceal your private parts, and as adornment.

Originally the sound plural was بَنُونَ in raf'; made Mansoob by the Harf un Nida it became بَنِينَ. Then on becoming a Mudaf the noon fell away and بَنِي remained. And أَدَمَ carries a fathah for being a Ghayr Munsarif Mudaf Ilayh.

يَا بَنِي إِسْرَءِيلَ اذْكُرُوا نِعْمَتِيَ الَّتِي أَنْعَمْتُ عَلَيْكُمْ

(Surah al-Baqarah: 40)

Translation: O children of Israel, remember My favour which I bestowed upon you.

5.5 The Asma' Sittah and Uloo

The word دَا is one of the Asma' Sittah, and its Mansoob form is ذَا. It is always used as a Mudaf.

فُلْنَا يَا ذَا الْقَرْنَيْنِ إِمَّا أَنْ تُعَذِّبَ وَإِمَّا أَنْ تَتَّخِذَ فِيهِمْ حُسْنًا

(Surah al-Kahf: 86)

Translation: We said: O Dhul-Qarnayn, either you punish them or take toward them a way of goodness.

ذَا is the Mansoob Mudaf and الْقَرْنَيْنِ the dual Mudaf Ilayh.

Likewise the word أُولُو, meaning "those possessed of", has the Mansoob and Majroor form أُولِي.

وَلَكُمْ فِي الْقِصَاصِ حَيَاةٌ يَا أُولِي الْأَلْبَابِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَتَّقُونَ

(Surah al-Baqarah: 179)

Translation: And there is life for you in retribution, O people of understanding, so that you may become mindful.

6. The fourth form — the Shibh Mudaf

Definition: A Shibh Mudaf is a word that needs another noun after it to complete and clarify its meaning, though it is not a proper Mudaf. It too is Mansoob like the Mudaf.

يَا حَسْرَةً عَلَى الْعِبَادِ مَا يَأْتِيهِمْ مِنْ رَسُولٍ إِلَّا كَانُوا بِهِ يَسْتَهْزِءُونَ

(Surah Ya-Sin: 30)

Translation: O sorrow upon the servants! No messenger ever came to them but that they mocked him.

The single example in the Qur'an: This form of the Munada is the least used in the Qur'an. In the reckoning of the grammarians يَا حَسْرَةً عَلَى الْعِبَادِ is the single example of a Shibh Mudaf in the whole Qur'an.

7. Particular rules for the Yaa' ul Mutakallim as Mudaf Ilayh

When the Munada is a Mudaf whose Mudaf Ilayh is the Yaa' ul Mutakallim, it is read and written in Arabic in several ways.

The way	Example	Explanation
with a sukoon	يَا رَبِّي	the Yaa' ul Mutakallim wants a kasrah on the letter before it, so the Mudaf is read alike in all three states with a fathah	يَا عِبَادِي	the Yaa' ul Mutakallim stands as Mudaf Ilayh with a fathah — Surah al-'Ankabut 56
omitted altogether	يَا عِبَادِ	the yaa' is dropped in writing and reading, and only the kasrah remains as its sign — Surah az-Zukhruf 68 changed into an alif	يَا رَبَّآ	reading يَا رَبِّي as يَا رَبَّآ

يَا عِبَادِي الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا إِنَّ أَرْضِي وَاسِعَةٌ فَإِيَّايَ فَاعْبُدُونِ

(Surah al-'Ankabut: 56)

Translation: O My servants who have believed, indeed My earth is spacious, so worship Me alone.

يَا عِبَادِ لَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْكُمُ الْيَوْمَ وَلَا أَنْتُمْ تَحْزَنُونَ

(Surah az-Zukhruf: 68)

Translation: O My servants, no fear will there be upon you today, nor will you grieve.

Here it was originally عِبَادِي, but the yaa' was dropped.

A subtle principle: The one who is called very often and repeatedly, the Arabs do not place يَا before, and for lightening they also drop the Yaa' ul Mutakallim. This is why in the du'as one simply says رَبِّ, "O my Lord".

8. The rules for Ab and Umm

The word أَب is one of the Asma' Sittah, whose state of raf' is أَبُو, of nasb أَبَا, and of jarr أَبِي. But when annexed to the Yaa' ul Mutakallim it is read أَيُّ. Likewise أُمِّي, "my mother".

Where the Harf un Nida enters, three particular forms are permitted for them.

The way	Ab	Umm
changing it to a taa' with a kasrah	يَا أَبَتِ	يَا أُمَّتِ
changing it to a taa' with a fathah	يَا أَبَتْ	يَا أُمَّتْ

The way	Ab	Umm
an additional alif after the taa'	يَا أَبَتَا	يَا أُمَّتَا

إِذْ قَالَ يُوسُفُ لِأَبِيهِ يَا أَبَتِ إِنِّي رَأَيْتُ أَحَدَ عَشَرَ كَوْكَبًا وَالشَّمْسَ وَالْقَمَرَ رَأَيْتُهُمْ لِي سَاجِدِينَ

(Surah Yusuf: 4)

Translation: When Yusuf said to his father: O my father, I saw eleven stars and the sun and the moon; I saw them prostrating to me.

Worth noting: يَا أُمَّتِ is not used in the Qur'an.

Ya bna umma

When Musa, peace be upon him, returned from the mount and in his anger took hold of Harun, peace be upon him, by the beard and the head, Harun spoke these words.

قَالَ يَا ابْنَ أُمَّ لَا تَأْخُذْ بِلِحْيَتِي وَلَا بِرَأْسِي إِنِّي خَشِيتُ أَنْ تَقُولَ فَرَّقْتَ بَيْنَ بَنِي إِسْرَءِيلَ وَلَمْ تَرْقُبْ قَوْلِي

(Surah Ta-Ha: 94)

Translation: He said: O son of my mother, do not seize me by my beard or my head. Indeed I feared you would say: you have caused division among the children of Israel and did not observe my word.

- In this construction the hamzah of ابْنِ is a Hamzat ul Wasl.
- The first way: the Yaa' ul Mutakallim of أُمِّي was first changed into an alif, then that alif too was dropped and the meem given a fathah — giving يَا ابْنَ أُمَّ.
- The second way: it may also be read يَا ابْنَ أُمِّي, that is, with the Yaa' ul Mutakallim.

9. The figurative use of the Munada

Rule: The Harf un Nida does not always come for literally calling some living or present thing; sometimes it is used figuratively to stir up a state, a quality or a feeling — as on occasions of sorrow, wonder and regret.

أَنْ تَقُولَ نَفْسٌ يُحَسِرْتِي عَلَى مَا فَرَّطْتُ فِي جَنْبِ اللَّهِ وَإِنْ كُنْتُ لَمِنَ السَّخِرِينَ

(Surah az-Zumar: 56)

Translation: Lest a soul should say: O my sorrow over what I neglected regarding Allah, and I was indeed among the mockers.

Here "sorrow" is no living thing to be called; rather, sorrow has been made a Munada figuratively, to convey the intensity of the anguish.

Ya waylata and Ya waylana

The verse	Explanation
قَالَتْ يُوَيْلَيَّ ءَالِدُ وَأَنَا عَجُوزٌ	she said: woe to me! shall I give birth while I am an old woman? — Surah Hud 72
يُوَيْلَيَّ لِيَتَّيْنِي لَمْ آتِخْذْ فَلَانًا خَلِيلًا	woe to me! would that I had not taken so-and-so as a friend — Surah al-Furqan 28
يُوَيْلَيْتَنَا مَا لِ هَذَا الْكِتَابِ	woe to us! what is this record? — Surah al-Kahf 49
قَالُوا يُوَيْلَيْتَنَا إِنَّا كُنَّا ظَالِمِينَ	they said: woe to us, indeed we were wrongdoers — Surah al-Anbiya 14 and 46
يُوَيْلَيْتَنَا قَدْ كُنَّا فِي غَفْلَةٍ مِّنْ هَذَا	woe to us, we were indeed heedless of this — Surah al-Anbiya 97
قَالُوا يُوَيْلَيْتَنَا مَنْ بَعَثَنَا مِنْ مَرْقَدِنَا	they will say: woe to us, who has raised us from our sleeping place? — Surah Ya-Sin 52
وَقَالُوا يُوَيْلَيْتَنَا هَذَا يَوْمُ الدِّينِ	and they will say: woe to us, this is the Day of Recompense — Surah as-Saffat 20
قَالُوا يُوَيْلَيْتَنَا إِنَّا كُنَّا طَاغِينَ	they said: woe to us, indeed we were transgressors — Surah al-Qalam 31

10. Changes for lightening and for affection

10.1 Ya baniyya — O my sons

وَقَالَ يَبْنَئِي لَا تَدْخُلُوا مِنْ بَابٍ وَاحِدٍ

(Surah Yusuf: 67)

Translation: And he said: O my sons, do not enter by one gate.

This was originally يَا, the Harf un Nida, plus بَيْنَ, the sound plural, plus يَ, the Yaa' ul Mutakallim. When بَيْنَ became a Mudaf its final noon fell away and بَيْنِ remained. Then the yaa' of the Mudaf and the Yaa' ul Mutakallim were merged together and written and read with a shaddah as يَا بَيْنِي.

10.2 Ya bunayya — O my dear son

قَالَ يُبْنِي لَا تَقْصُصْ رُءْيَاكَ عَلَى إِخْوَتِكَ

(Surah Yusuf: 5)

Translation: He said: O my dear son, do not relate your vision to your brothers.

The word بُنِي is the Isim ut Tasgheer — the diminutive — of the original word ابْن, coming on the pattern فُعَيْل. When this diminutive is annexed to the Yaa' ul Mutakallim it gives the sense of affection and tenderness — "O my dear little son".

11. The omission of the Harf un Nida

In Arabic speech and in the Qur'an, in many places the Harf un Nida يَا is dropped from writing and reading for the sake of brevity and eloquence. There are three basic cases.

11.1 When the Munada is a Mudaf

In the du'as of the Qur'an the Harf un Nida is often dropped to express humility and nearness.

رَبَّنَا ظَلَمْنَا أَنْفُسَنَا • رَبَّنَا لَا تُؤَاخِذْنَا • رَبَّنَا لَا تَزِغْ قُلُوبَنَا

In all these places the original wording was يَا رَبَّنَا, but يَا was dropped.

A double omission: When the Munada is annexed to the Yaa' ul Mutakallim, not only is the Harf un Nida dropped but the Yaa' ul Mutakallim too is dropped for lightening — as in the du'a رَبِّ اغْفِرْ لِي, which was originally يَا رَبِّي.

11.2 When the Munada is an Ism ul 'Alam

يُوسُفُ اعْرِضْ عَنْ هَذَا

(Surah Yusuf: 29)

Translation: Yusuf, turn away from this.

Here the sense intended was يَا يُوسُفُ, but the Harf un Nida is dropped because the noun is an Ism ul 'Alam.

11.3 When Ayyuha comes before the Munada

If the Munada is Mu'arraf bil Lam and أَيُّهَا stands before it, the Harf un Nida may be dropped. The clearest example is found in the tashahhud.

السَّلَامُ عَلَيْكَ أَيُّهَا النَّبِيُّ

Its original construction was يَا أَيُّهَا النَّبِيُّ.

12. The case of Ibn or Ibnah as a Sifah

Rule: If the Munada is an Ism ul 'Alam standing as a Mawsuf, and immediately after it comes ابْن or ابْنَة as its Sifah, and that word is annexed to another Ism ul 'Alam, then the first noun may be read in two ways: with a dammah (by the original rule of the Munada Mufrad), or with a fathah.

يَا زَيْدَ بْنَ عُمَرَ or يَا زَيْدُ بْنُ عُمَرَ

Both are permitted, but the form with a fathah is more eloquent and preferred.

وَإِذْ قَالَ اللَّهُ يُعِيسَى ابْنَ مَرْيَمَ ءَأَنْتَ قُلْتَ لِلنَّاسِ اتَّخِذُونِي وَأُمِّي إِلَهَيْنِ مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ

(Surah al-Ma'idah: 116)

Translation: And when Allah will say: O 'Isa son of Maryam, did you say to the people: take me and my mother as gods besides Allah?

Here 'Isa is an Ism Maqsur, and reading ابْن after it with a fathah is the more chosen and preferred way.

13. The Ism ul Jalalah as a Munada

When the Ism ul Jalalah اللَّهُ is made a Munada, it has a few singular and particular rules that set it apart from all other nouns.

Rule	Details
Only Ya is used	of all the Huroof un Nida, only يَا is used for the Ism ul Jalalah — يَا اللَّهُ
The hamzah is pronounced	the hamzah at the start of Allah is a Hamzat ul Wasl that falls away when read joined; but when the Harf un Nida enters, it is pronounced plainly even in joining
A doubled meem is added	most often يَا is dropped and in its place a doubled meem is added to the end of the word, giving اللَّهُمَّ
A fathah on the second meem	a doubled meem holds two meems, the first silent and the second vowelized; the second is given a fathah, since a fathah is reckoned the easiest and most agreeable vowel in Arabic
Ayyuha never comes	although the word Allah begins with al-, out of reverence أَيُّهَا is never used between the Harf un Nida and it

Accordingly only يَا اللَّهُ or اللَّهُمَّ is said.

14. A Harf or a Fi'l after the Harf un Nida

In some places in the Qur'an, instead of a noun, a Harf or a Fi'l comes immediately after the Harf un Nida يَا.

قِيلَ ادْخُلِ الْجَنَّةَ ۖ قَالَ يَلَيْتَ قَوْمِي يَعْلَمُونَ

(Surah Ya-Sin: 26)

Translation: It was said: enter Paradise. He said: would that my people knew.

وَيَقُولُ الْكَافِرُ يَلَيْتَنِي كُنْتُ تُرَابًا

(Surah an-Naba: 40)

Translation: And the disbeliever will say: would that I were dust.

Two views

The view	Details
The Munada is omitted	يَا is in its own proper sense of calling, and after it a Munada lies hidden. The original speech was: يَا هَؤُلَاءِ لَيْتَ قَوْمِي يَعْلَمُونَ — that is, O people, would that my people knew. The Munada was dropped for brevity

The view	Details
Ya is for drawing attention	here يَ is not a Harf un Nida but a Harf ut Tanbeeh. And when يَ carries the sense of drawing attention, by the rules it may enter upon a verb and a particle as well as upon a noun

15. The seventh category of the Ma'rifah — Mu'arraḥ bin Nida

In Lectures 31 and 32 six categories of the Ma'rifah were studied. With the Harf un Nida a seventh is now added.

#	Category	Explanation
1 to 4	Ism ul 'Alam, Dameer, Ism ul Isharah, Ism ul Mawsul	these are Ma'rifah in themselves
5	Mu'arraḥ bil Lam	making a Nakirah definite by placing the Lam ut Ta'reef at its start
6	Mu'arraḥ bil Idafah	making a Nakirah definite by annexing it to a Ma'rifah noun
7	Mu'arraḥ bin Nida	placing a Harf un Nida before a Nakirah noun

Mu'arraḥ bin Nida: When a Harf un Nida enters a Nakirah noun, that noun turns from Nakirah into Ma'rifah. The word رَجُلٌ, "some man", is Nakirah; but when يَا is placed before it, it becomes يَا رَجُلٌ and enters the seventh category of the Ma'rifah, and its Tanween falls away.

This is the reason: Why does the Tanween of the Munada Mufrad fall away? Precisely because the Harf un Nida makes it Ma'rifah, and a Ma'rifah noun does not take Tanween. So the rule of section 3 and this seventh category are in truth two faces of one reality.

Summary

1. Nida means to call or to summon, and the words used for calling are the Huroof un Nida.
2. The one who calls is the Munadi and the one called is the Munada.
3. The Huroof un Nida include هَيَّا, أَرِ, أَيِّ and وَآ, but only يَا is used in the Qur'an.
4. In the Qur'an يَا is written in two ways: with a fathah and an alif, and with a standing fathah; the second occurs more often.
5. The Munada comes in four forms: mufrad, Mu'arraaf bil Lam, Mudaf and Shibh Mudaf.
6. In grammatical terminology mufrad means a single standing word, whether singular, dual or plural.
7. The l'raab of a mufrad Munada is always Mabni 'ala ar-Raf', and its Tanween falls away.
8. يَا نُوحُ, يَا آدَمُ, يَا مُوسَى, يَا مَرْيَمُ, يَا نَارُ and يَا جِبَالُ are all examples of the mufrad Munada.
9. If the Munada is a dual or a sound plural, it will be Marfoo' with its own marks of raf'.
10. If the Munada is Mu'arraaf bil Lam, أَيُّهَا is brought for the masculine and أَيُّهَا for the feminine.
11. أَيُّهَا occurs a great deal in the Qur'an, while أَيَّتُهَا occurs very seldom.
12. If the Munada is a Mudaf it becomes Mansoob, because in a Murakkab Idafi the essential standing belongs to the Mudaf.
13. In يَا صَاحِبَي السَّجْنِ the dual became Mansoob as صَاحِبَيْنِ, and then the noon fell on its becoming a Mudaf.
14. In يَا بَنِي آدَمَ, بَنُونَ became Mansoob as بَنِينَ, and then the noon fell on its becoming a Mudaf.
15. The Mansoob form of دَا is دُو and of أُولُو is أُولِي, and both come only as a Mudaf.
16. A Shibh Mudaf is also Mansoob, and يَا حَسْرَةً عَلَى الْعِبَادِ is its single example in the whole Qur'an.
17. The Yaa' ul Mutakallim has four forms: with a sukoon, with a fathah, omitted altogether, or changed into an alif.
18. The one called repeatedly, the Arabs do not place يَا before, and they also drop the Yaa' ul Mutakallim.
19. For أَب and أُم three forms are permitted: a taa' with a kasrah, a taa' with a fathah, or an additional alif after the taa'.
20. يَا أُمَّتِ is not used in the Qur'an.
21. In يَا ابْنَ أُمَّ the Yaa' ul Mutakallim was first changed into an alif, then the alif too fell and the meem was given a fathah.
22. The Harf un Nida sometimes comes figuratively to stir up a state or feeling, as in يُوَيْلِنَا and يُحَسِّرُنِي.
23. In يَا بَنِي the yaa' of the Mudaf and the Yaa' ul Mutakallim have been merged and come with a shaddah.
24. بُنًى is the diminutive of ابْن, which on being annexed to the Yaa' ul Mutakallim gives the sense of affection.
25. The Harf un Nida is dropped in three cases: when the Munada is a Mudaf, when it is an Ism ul 'Alam, or when أَيُّهَا precedes it.
26. In the tashahhud, يَا أَيُّهَا النَّبِيُّ السَّلَامُ عَلَيْكَ أَيُّهَا النَّبِيُّ was originally يَا أَيُّهَا النَّبِيُّ.

27. If the Munada is an Ism ul 'Alam followed by اِبْن as a Sifah, it may be read with a dammah or a fathah, but the fathah is more eloquent.
28. For the Ism ul Jalalah only يَا comes, and most often يَا is dropped and a doubled meem added at the end: اَللّٰهُمَّ.
29. Out of reverence, اِيَّهَا is never used with the Ism ul Jalalah.
30. There are two explanations for a Harf or Fi'l coming after يَا: either the Munada is omitted, or يَا is a Harf ut Tanbeeh.
31. The seventh category of the Ma'rifah is Mu'arraf bin Nida: a Nakirah noun becomes Ma'rifah by a Harf un Nida entering it.
32. This is why the Tanween of a mufrad Munada falls away — because it has become Ma'rifah.
